

JESUS COLLEGE OXFORD

JC:P223 MISCELLANEOUS THEOLOGICAL NOTES, 18th CENTURY

It is not known when these documents were given to Jesus College, or by whom, but they made their way to the Library, where at some point they were catalogued as MS 365.

Some of these documents as is shown below, appear to be in the hand of Joseph Hoare (Pr. 1768-1802), but not all, and other documents look like undergraduate exercises. There is nothing to explain how they came to be grouped together, and, in the absence of any further information, they are catalogued here among the privately deposited records rather than among the Hoare Papers (JC:PRI8).

Catalogued in January 2020.

JC:P223/MSI/1-3

n.d. (c. 1730-1800?)

Three sheets of notes on theology which appear to be in the hand of Joseph Hoare (Pr. 1768-1802). MSI/3 is written on an envelope addressed to Jonathan Edwards (Pr. 1688-1712), which Hoare may have found in the Principal's Lodgings.

JC:P223/MSI/4

n.d. (18th cent.)

Sheet, in very fragile condition, with notes in an unknown hand on John 1.41 (on Jesus's words on Nathaniel).

JC:P223/MSI/5

n.d. (18th cent.)

Notes by Hugh Hughes on the fourth of the 39 Articles of the Church of England (on the resurrection of Christ). Several men called Hugh Hughes came up to Jesus College in the 18th century, and there is no way of telling which one this is.

JC:P223/MSI/6

n.d. (18th cent.)

A series of short essays signed by "Davies" (unidentified) on various aspects of the importance of Christianity.

JC:P223/MSI/7

n.d. (18th cent.)

Essay by W. Taylor (unidentified) titled "The Excellency of the Christian Religion".
